

OFFICIAL GUIDES INSIDE: SUMMIT COUNTY PARADE OF HOMES | WESTERN DESIGN CONFERENCE

MOUNTAIN LIVING

The Big RUSTIC Issue

Fall in love with the West's coziest camps, cabins and lodges

September/October 2015

$4.95 US

mountainliving.com

+ THE LIST: 2015 Top Mountain
Architects & Interior Designers

INSIDE

Everything for your home

ML SPLURGE

INTO THE WOODS A fourth-generation craftsman, David Stine creates wood-slab tables, desks, beds and benches that embrace their flaws. His custom creations have cracks, scars, blemishes and bug damage that not only make each piece distinct but also tell a story. "Every piece is as unique as the customer who gets it and as unique as the tree from which it came," he says. Beginning with trees harvested from his family's 500 wooded acres in rural Illinois, the slabs are cut and milled on site and then finished to a client's specifications. From oversized live-edge walnut dining tables with industrial steel legs (pictured) to rustic cherry headboards with bowtie key detailing, each piece is one of a kind and built to last a lifetime. Walnut Slab Dining Table, available in four other woods as well as a variety of base and finish options; $37,250. stinewoodworking.com.

STORY MICHELLE JOHNSON

WOODWORKING

Rustic furniture is not necessarily simple. It is timeless, complex, and designed with style and quality to endure through the decades.

DAVID STINE WOODWORKING

Badger Creek Woodworks

In 1992 Michael opened Badger Creek Woodworks and realized his lifelong dream. Every day he has the good fortune to do what he loves: "work in my own wood shop." He is still fascinated by what he can do with a tree.

MICHAEL ROMANZI

165 W. Badger Creek Rd.
Tetonia, ID 83452

208.456.7191
mromanzi@yahoo.com
badgercreekwoodworks.com

Bear Paw Designs

Inspired by the history of the Old West, artisan Mike Roths designs and builds one of a kind Western style pieces of furniture that have a whimsical feel and tell a story of days gone by. He and his wife Jo live in historic Stevensville, Montana's oldest community.

MIKE ROTHS

252 St. Mary
Stevensville, MT 59870

406.239.2050
mike@bearpawdesigns.com
www.bearpawdesigns.com

